SEN. BARACK OBAMA SHARES OPINION ON CREDIT UNIONS WITH FLORIDA CREDIT UNION LEAGUE AT LOCAL DEMOCRATIC DINNER

TALLAHASSEE, FLA. – Florida Credit Union League (FCUL) representatives introduced themselves to Sen. Barack Obama on behalf of Florida credit unions at a dinner and V.I.P. reception hosted by the Leon County Democratic Executive Committee. Upon introduction of FCUL representatives, Sen. Obama shared his opinion on credit unions.

Andy Price, FCUL Director of Legal Affairs, Mark Landreth, FCUL Director of Legislative Affairs, and Cassandra Grayson, FCUL Sr. VP of Administration, had the opportunity to speak one-on-one with Sen. Obama at the reception. After Landreth identified himself as a representative of Florida credit unions, Sen. Obama commented that he loves credit unions and that he worked very closely with the Illinois credit unions on initiatives that are near and dear to both their hearts.
